

Dear Students, Parents, and Guardians,

In order to meet new requirements from the State and Federal Government, AUSD recently made updates within our student information system, Aeries. After making these adjustments, you may see additional sections within the "Class Summary" or "Classes" areas within the Aeries parent portal and Aeries student portal. These new sections are for compliance and reporting purposes only and do not impact a student's schedule or grades. Please ignore these additional sections if you see them. One additional area of compliance is in regards to attendance reporting and engagement during Distance Learning times. In the attendance section of the Aeries parent portal and Aeries student portal, two new codes are being used to show attendance during the distance learning periods of a day. You will now notice two new attendance codes being used for Distance Learning periods. The new codes are as follows:

F = Distance Learning Engaged

Z = Distance Learning Not Engaged

These new codes are not used in calculations for eligibility for extracurricular activities or truancy issues, but again are part of the new requirements for state reporting purposes. If you have specific questions regarding either of these two new requirements, please reach out to your school site administrator who will be able to support you.

Thank you for your understanding as we continue to educate students and to meet all state requirements during these ever changing times.
